

MONOPOLY UNDER U. S. SUPERVISION PACKERS' PLAN

Best for Producer and Consumer, Armour Declares

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—J. Ogden Armour today suggested a monopoly, under government supervision, of the entire meat industry of this country was best for producer and consumer.

Testifying before the senate agriculture committee, he declared that by this plan millions of dollars could be saved, which would help increase the profits of producers of livestock and at the same time cut down the cost of meat to consumers.

The necessity of close government supervision was emphasized however, by Mr. Armour in connection with his proposal.

Must Be Regulated.

"Such a concern must be regulated by the government," he told the committee, "because few men with such enormous power would use it properly."

There was no discussion of Mr. Armour's plan which he proposed during the cross-examination by Francis J. Heney who conducted the federal trade commission's packing house inquiry. The questioning then touched upon alleged existence of a combination among the leading packers, which Mr. Armour denied.

Mr. Armour explained that the packers contributed to a general fund such as might be used to joint legislation action, and said he believed this was a common practice among industries. Payments were paid on a percentage basis which followed, he added the basis adopted during a pool by these concerns many years ago "to prevent an over-supplied market."

Each of the companies, he testified, now tried to maintain about the same share of business as at that time but he denied that there was any actual agreement to that effect.

Three Grow Fastest.

"Don't you think that there is a decided tendency," Mr. Heney asked "toward growth of only three big packing companies—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Morris & Co.?"

"I've heard some such statement before," Mr. Armour replied.

Mr. Heney contended that the country would benefit if the business were conducted by more small packing houses, widely distributed. He accused the packers of wasteful methods, made possible by their great volume of business. Mr. Armour contended that the packers acquired no advantage from their relationships with banks and railroads. He gave the committee a full list of all banks and railroads of which he is director and smaller companies in which he holds stock. Mr. Armour will continue his testimony Monday and probably will be followed by his counsel, Levy Mayer, who will discuss the validity of the Kendrick bill to regulate the meat interests.

MILTON DENIES RECENT CHARGES

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Charges that Milton J. Trainer of Chicago, a civilian employee of the war department had attempted to obtain a commission of $100,000 in connection with plans for the construction of the Chicago Speedway Hospital, were vigorously denied today by E. D. Adeock, of Chicago, counsel for Trainer, at a hearing before the senate buildings committee.

Trainer is expected to appear in his own behalf next week. Adeock told the committee that the charge that his client had sought the commission from Edward S. Hines, of Chicago, either was made deliberately without regard to the truth or recklessly.

In asking that the inquiry be deferred until Monday, Adeock said that evidence as startling as that in the Lorimer case would be developed and in refusing his request the committee announced that reference to the Lorimer matter would not be permitted to go into the record.

WILL EQUIP PLANES WITH WIRELESS

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The British wireless service. The airplanes which are carrying the peace conference delegates and important documents between London and Paris are to be equipped with wireless telephone apparatus. This will enable the pilots to speak to one another while in the air and will also enable them to receive frequent weather reports and instructions from the ground.

The British army during the war it was declared, perfected the wireless telephone so that pilots could speak to the ground and to another at a distance of fifteen miles.

U. S. Will Soon Be Back Into Its Normal Swing

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Predicting that the country will "get back into its normal swing" within six months after the signing of the armistice, William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, declared in an address here today that the nation faces eight or ten years of the "greatest industrial activity ever known."

Mr. Wilson spoke at a luncheon given in his honor and that of United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, by the lawyers' club on the eve of the departure for France of the department of labor's economic mission, which will make a survey of that country.

While predicting prosperity, Mr. Wilson warned his audience that labor has a reserve of money to resist any attempt to force down wages unduly. He asserted that if we have any large period of industrial unrest there is no telling where the social upheaval will lead us.

In this connection he declared, it would be hard to say whether it would lead "to a revolution, such as that of the French or of the Bolsheviks in Russia."

Brief Period of Readjustment.

Referring to the need of tidying over a brief period of readjustment Mr. Wilson said:

"We now have to turn our attention to the task of demobilization and re-establishing ourselves on a stable, post-war basis. This will be easy to accomplish if every man engaged in business in the United States will bring himself to believe that the best policy for the future is to re-establish his business on the same basis as before the war."

"Many feel that this is not advisable. They say war prices are abnormal, that the prices of material are high and that the cost of labor is out of question. This reasoning seems fairly sound but it is one phase of the situation. I predict that it will not be more than four to six months between the time of the signing of the armistice and the time it takes the country to get back into its normal swing."

Among the things of labor is not as great as men are prone to think. Because of the cessation of immigration during the war, and the fact that it will be necessary to keep an army of 1,000,000 men in Europe for more than a year to come, we are about 3,200,000 persons short in our normal labor supply."

THOUSANDS ARE IDLE IN FRANCE

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 25.—A large part of the increasing amount of unemployment in this country is voluntary and temporary in character, declared Dr. George W. Kirchwey, state director of the United States employment service in an address here today.

Discharged soldiers, he said, were not eager to return to their old jobs and many were walking the streets to find work of a more dignified character.

He said the army was being demobilized too rapidly from the point of view of industry, with the result that discharged soldiers are concentrating in industrial centers. He termed a "Greek gift" the announcement by Secretary of War Baker that no man without a job would be discharged against his will asserting that generally speaking the soldiers wished to get out of the uniform as rapidly as possible.

Dr. Kirchwey declared today that he had been incorrectly quoted last night as saying there were 10,000,000 jobless persons in this country.

"What I did say," he explained, "was that when the armistice was signed the problem was presented of restoring to peaceful occupation 4,000,000 men who had been under arms and about 8,000,000 war workers."

He added that the 8,000,000 war workers are not out of employment at this moment. Hundreds of them, he said, were women.

PRESIDENT GOES TO RHEIMS TODAY

(By the Associated Press)

Paris, Jan. 24.—President Wilson on Sunday will have his first view of the havoc wrought in northern France by the Germans. On that day he will make the first of a series of short trips by going to Rheims, from which he will tour the surrounding district in an army motor car.

Later the president expects to make another visit to the battle area, probably the region of Verdun. He will go on a Sunday or some other day between the sessions of the peace conference when he feels he is not taking the time he thinks he should devote to them.

WELL KNOWN PUBLISHER DIES

(By the Associated Press)

Summit, N. J., Jan. 25.—Fredrick A. Duneka, vice president and general manager of Harper and Brothers publishers, of New York, died yesterday at his home here. Before joining Harper and Brothers, nearly twenty years ago, he was city editor of the New York World. The manuscripts of many noted literary men and women, including those of Mark Twain passed thru his hands.

WILL ASCERTAIN STRENGTH OF GERMAN ARMY

First Question To Be Taken Up By Military Committee

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 25.—An effort to ascertain the strength and resources of the German army will be the first problem considered by the military committee appointed Thursday the supreme war council to report on the strength of the allied and associated forces to be retained on the western front during the period of the armistice. It is assumed that the Germans now have about 500,000 men under arms, but it is necessary to confirm these figures and also to determine what extent the manufacture of arms, munitions and other military supplies is going on.

The purpose is to maintain a strength at all times superior to the present or potential strength of the Germans. There are now eight American divisions in Germany and the findings of the committee will determine whether it will be possible to reduce this force.

The British and French commands share the desire to hasten demobilization so it is expected that the committee will report at the earliest possible moment. The inquiry is not understood to apply to the entente and American forces in Siberia and at Archangel where they will be maintained pending the issue of the Princes Islands conference.

TRANSPORT MAUI BRINGS IN 3,040

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Transport Maui carrying 95 officers and 2,945 men, of whom 52 officers and 2,231 men are listed as sick or wounded, and two civilian casualties, arrived here today from Bordeaux. Only 47 of the patients were designated as requiring special attention.

Among the arrivals were companies A, B, C, and medical detachment, 814th Pioneer Infantry (colored), consisting of seven officers and 601 men assigned to Camp Upton; casual company 16, Virginia, comprising two officers and 113 men, assigned to Camp Merritt and 34 casual officers.

Included among the officers aboard the transport Atlantis, which arrived today from Bordeaux were:

Captain Clinton Hill, Chicago, who received the Croix de Guerre and Lieutenant Charles Safford, Ft. Louis, the same honor with the Palm. Lieutenant R. J. Perry, Joliet, Ill., came back a survivor of an attack by 150 whippet tanks against the Germans in the Argonne, only thirty of these machines returning safely.

203 GERMAN SUBS LOST DURING WAR

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 25.—(British Wireless Service).—Of the 203 German submarines lost during the war it was estimated here semi-officially, 120 were sunk with all on board and that in the others an average of half the crew perished.

The complement of the German submarines varied. Some small boats had only thirty on board while the crew of a boat of the cruiser type averaged between 50 and 60.

The British army during the war lost 59 submarines, 39 of which were destroyed by the enemy. Of the remainder four were interned by neutrals, seven were blown up in the Baltic sea, four were sunk by accident on trial cruises and five were wrecked in collisions.

YANKEE ARMY WAS SECOND IN STRENGTH

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—On the day that the armistice was signed the American army on the western front was second in strength. Figures made public today by General March showed that on November 11, the U. S. was represented on the western front by 1,950,100. France, on November 11, the last date for French official figures available, had 2,559,000. The British and the Portuguese attached to the British army totaled 1,718,000 while the Belgian and Italian forces on the western front aggregated about 200,000.

HENDRICKS TERMINATES CONTRACT

(By the Associated Press)

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25.—Jack Hendricks, manager of the St. Louis Nationals last season, has agreed to terminate his contract as manager at once, according to an announcement made this afternoon following a meeting of the board of directors of the club by J. C. Jones, vice president. The contract had one more year to run. Branch Rickey, president of the club, has been offered the position of manager, which he has taken under advisement. Hendricks' agreement was for a cash consideration.

Senator Lewis In Stirring Speech Upholds Wilson

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois speaking today before the Lawyers' Club in support of the proposal for a league of nations, declared that the American government could not abandon a single one of President Wilson's fourteen principles without laying itself open to the charge of perfidy.

Germany, Senator Lewis said would have the right to refuse to abide by the terms of the armistice, the allies would be justified in withdrawing from the peace table and all small nations or aspiring peoples fighting with the United States on the basis of the president's proposals would be excused before the world in turning from America.

Fourteen Points.

"The peace was made by Germany and her people on terms of fourteen points proposed by the United States including the proposal of leagues of nations for future peace," said Senator Lewis. "These were adopted by the allies as their only terms of peace and accepted as the basis by Italy, the Balkans and Turkey. It is impossible for the United States to withdraw one of her terms or postpone one or omit to press one—without giving Germany the right then and there to refuse to abide by the terms of the armistice in any particular. She could refuse to deliver her cannon and arms as agreed. The people of Germany would be justified in charging us with fraud on them and turn against us and support any force against our soldiers. The allies would be justified in accusing us of treachery and withdraw from the table."

"Every little nation or aspiring people fighting with us on the basis of our proposals made Jan. 13, 1918 would be excused before the world in turning from us and assailing us for perfidy to them. Then resenting it by allying themselves with any foes of the United States—this on the ground that our contracts and agreements were delusions and a fraud and our treaties of peace but scraps of paper." We would be the perfidious traitors to solemn compact and the nations whose word would sink as low as was that of Prussia, when her deceptions and lies brought her to destruction in the indignation of civilization."

DIFFICULT TIMES AHEAD FOR FRANCE

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 25.—France now is faced with a struggle with Germany, Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, speaking tonight, at the Franco-American.

The end of the war Mr. Hurley declared cannot be considered as having come until France is entirely rehabilitated commercially. For twenty five years, Mr. Hurley said, Germany had devoted fifty per cent of her efforts towards commercial lines and the remainder to building up her great military machine. As no such machine will be permitted in the future, he added it will really be devoted to commerce. "Say what you will about her method," he declared, "she has demonstrated her efficiency in commerce and with her whole effort devoted in the future to trade, the nations of the world always will have a formidable competitor, no matter what restrictions it becomes advisable to put in her path. To solve this problem France must organize as she cannot meet it by relying on isolated individual efforts."

INCREASED USE OF OIL ON SHIPS PLANNED

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Plans looking to vastly increased use of oil fuel by American merchant vessels have been developed at conferences between heads of the larger oil producing interests ship owners and representatives of the shipping board. John N. Rossiter, director of operations, of the board said today that details of the proposals tentatively accepted were being worked out preliminary to action toward the establishment of additional oil bunkering facilities at various ports, and cooperation with the oil producers to assure a steady supply of fuel.

"The importance of oil fuel to the future of the American merchant marine, I believe cannot be overestimated," Mr. Rossiter said. "It means the difference between success and failure in short. The increased steaming radius given to vessels operating with oil as against those operating with coal, the reduction in size of crews and the elimination of delays and loading costs are some of the considerations."

JURY FREES MRS. THOMAS

(By the Associated Press)

Lewistown, Ill., Jan. 25.—The jury in the trial of Mrs. Zella Thomas, charged with the murder of her husband, David Thomas, this morning returned a verdict finding her not guilty. The case went to the jury at 10:30 o'clock last night. The shooting of Thomas for which Mrs. Thomas was tried, took place on the night of November 20, last.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS PROJECT ADOPTED AT PEACE PARLEY

President Wilson's Speech On League

Wilson's Address Conference

PARIS, Jan. 25.—Following is President Wilson's address before the peace conference today:

"Mr. Chairman:

"I consider it a distinguished privilege to be permitted to open the discussion in this conference on the league of nations. We have assembled for two purposes—to make the present settlements which have been rendered necessary by this war and also to secure the peace of the world, not only by the present settlements, but by the arrangements we shall make at this conference for its maintenance."

"The league of nations seems to me to be necessary for both of these purposes. There are many complicated questions connected with the present settlements, which perhaps cannot be successfully worked out to an ultimate issue by the decisions we shall arrive at here. I can easily conceive that many of these settlements will need subsequent alteration in some degree for if I may judge by my own study of some of these questions they are not susceptible for confident judgments at present."

"It is therefore necessary that we should set up some machinery by which the work of this conference should be rendered complete."

Purpose of Assembly.

"We have assembled here for the purpose of doing very much more than making the present settlements that are necessary. We are assembled under very peculiar conditions of world opinion. I may say without straining the point that we are not the representatives of governments but representatives of the people."

"It will not suffice to satisfy governmental circles anywhere. It is necessary that we should satisfy the opinion of mankind. The burdens of this war have fallen in an unusual degree upon the whole population of the countries involved. I do not need to draw for you the picture of how the burden has been thrown back from the front upon the older men, upon the women, upon the children, upon the homes of the civilized world and how the real strain of the war has come where the eye of the government could not reach, but where the heart of humanity beats."

"We are bidden by these people to make a peace which will make them secure. We are bidden by these people to see to it that this strain does not come upon them again."

"And I venture to say that it has been possible for them to bear this strain because they hoped that those who represented them could get together after this war and make such another sacrifice unnecessary."

Permanent Peace.

"It is a solemn obligation on our part, therefore, to make permanent arrangements that justice shall be rendered and peace maintained."

"This is the central object of our meeting. Settlements may be temporary but the action of the nations in the interest of peace and justice must be permanent. We can set up permanent processes. We may not be able to set up a permanent decision. Therefore, it seems to me that we must take as far as we can a picture of the world into our minds. It is not a startling circumstance for one thing, that the great discoveries of science, the quiet studies of men in laboratories that the thoughtful developments which have taken place in quiet lecture rooms have now been turned to the destruction of civilization? The powers of destruction have not so much multiplied as they have gained facilities."

"The enemy, whom we have just overcome had at his seats of learning some of the principal centers of scientific study and discovery and he used them in order to make destruction sudden and complete. And only the watchful and continuous co-operation of men can see to it that science, as well as armed men, is kept within the harness of civilization."

U. S. Less Interested.

"In a sense the United States is less interested in this subject than the other nations here assembled. With her great territory and her extensive sea-borders, it is less likely that the United States should suffer from the attack of enemies than that other nations should suffer. And the order of the United States for it is a very deep and genuine ardor—for the society of nations is not an ardor springing out of fear or apprehension but an ardor springing out of ideals which have come in the consciousness of this war.

"In coming into this war the United States never for a moment thought she was intervening in the politics of Europe or the politics of Asia or the politics of any part of the world. Her thought was that all the world had now become conscious that there was a single cause of justice and of liberty for men of every kind and place."

"Therefore the United States should feel that its part in this war should be played in vain if there ensued upon it abortive European settlements. It would feel that it could not take part in guaranteeing those European settlements unless the guarantee involved the continuous superintendence of the peace of the world by the associated nations of the world. Therefore it seems to me that we must concern our best judgment in order to make this league of nations a vital thing—a thing sometimes called into life to meet an exigency—but always functioning in watchful attendance upon the interests of the nations and that its continuity should be a vital continuity. That its functions are continuing functions; that do not permit an intermission of its watchfulness and of its labor; that it should be the eye of the nations to keep watch upon the common interest—an eye that did not slumber, an eye that was everywhere watchful and attention."

"And if we do not make it vital, what shall we do? We shall disappoint the expectations of the peoples. This is what their thought centers upon."

"I had the very deplorable experience of visiting several nations since I came to this side of the water and every time the voice of the body of the people reached me thru any representative at the front of the plea stood the hope of the league of nations."

Plain People Will Rule.

"Gentlemen, the select classes of mankind are now in the hands of mankind. The fortunes of mankind are now in the hands of the plain people of the whole world. Satisfy them, and you have justified their confidence. Not only, but have established peace. Fail to satisfy them, and no arrangement that you can make will either set up or steady the peace of the world."

"You can imagine, I dare say, the sentiments and the purpose with which the representatives of the United States support this great program for a league of nations. We regard it as the key-note of the whole, which expressed our purpose and our ideals in this war and which the associated nations have accepted as the basis of a settlement."

"If we return to the United States without having made every effort in our power to realize this programme, we should return to meet the merited scorn of our fellow citizens. For they are a body that constitute a great democracy. They expect their leaders to speak; their representatives to be their servants. We have no choice but to obey their mandate. But it is with the greatest enthusiasm and pleasure that we accept that mandate. And because this is the keynote of the whole fabric we have pledged our every purpose to it as we have to every item of the fabric. We would not dare abate a single item of the programme which constitutes our instructions. We would not dare to compromise upon any matter as the champion of this thing—the peace of the world, this attitude of justice, this principle that we are the powers upon the globe, but are here to see that every people in the world shall choose its own masters and govern its own destinies, not as we wish, but as they wish."

Must Sweep Away Wars.

"We are here to see in short that the very foundations of this war are swept away. Those foundations were the private choice of a small coterie of civil rulers and military staffs. Those foundations were the aggression of great powers upon the small. Those foundations were the holding together of empire and unwilling subjects by the duress of arms. Those foundations were the power of small bodies of men to yield their will and use mankind as pawns in a game."

"And nothing less than the emancipation of the world from these things will accomplish peace."

"You can see that the representatives of the United States are, therefore never put to the embarrassment of choosing a way of expediency because they have laid down before them the unalterable line of principles and thank God these lines have been accepted by the lines of settlement by all the high minded men who have had to deal with the beginning of this great business."

"I hope, Mr. Chairman, when it is known, as I feel confident it will be known that we have adopted the principle of the league

NAME COMMISSION TO INQUIRE INTO SUBJECT

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The conference unanimously adopted the league of nations project. President Wilson and Colonel House are the American members of the commission thereon.

Colonel House was present at the session of the conference for the first time since his illness.

"The league of nations is the first step on the Agenda," said M. Clemenceau, as he read the resolutions formulated by the supreme council.

"The conference having considered the proposals for the creation of a league of nations resolved that:

"It is essential to the maintenance of the world settlement which the associated nations are now met to establish that a league of nations be created to promote international obligation and to provide safeguards against war. This league should be created as integral part of the general treaty of peace and should be open to every civilized nation which can be relied on to promote its objects."

"The members of the league should periodically meet in international conference and should have a permanent organization of secretaries to carry on the business of the league in the intervals between the conferences."

"The conference therefore appoints a committee representative of the associated governments to work out the details of the constitution and the functions of the league and the draft of resolutions in regard to breaches of the laws of war for presentation to the peace conference."

Commission Named.

A that a commission composed of two representatives apiece from the five great powers and five representatives to be elected by other powers be appointed to inquire and report upon the following:

"First: The responsibility of the authors of the war."

"Second: The facts as to breaches of the laws and customs of war committed by the forces of the German empire and their allies on land, on sea and in the air during the present war."

"Third: The degree of responsibility for the offenses attaching to particular members of the enemy's forces including members of the general staffs and other individuals, however highly placed."

"Fourth: The constitution and procedure of the tribunal appropriate to the trial of these offenses."

"Fifth: Any other matters cognate or ancillary to the above which may arise in the course of inquiry and which the commission finds is useful and relevant to take into consideration."

The resolutions were adopted by the conference without change. President Wilson rose at the reading of the resolutions closed and in calm, rather low, earnest tones, spoke in support of the league, with which his name has been identified.

Lloyd-George Approves.

Premier Lloyd-George followed President Wilson in a brief speech supporting the general principle of the league. His speech was chiefly notable for the vivid picture of the ruins of France and the need of setting up some system to take the place of this "organized savagery."

The Italian premier, Orlando, also briefly supported the resolution for the league, speaking of the high ideals it represented. The former French premier, Leon Bourgeois, made the most extended speech of the day in support of the resolution.

"I should like to ask," said Premier Hughes of Australia, "if we are to have an opportunity to discuss this scheme when it is finished?"

"Without any doubt," responded M. Clemenceau.

The Chinese delegates added their support to the resolution, saying that China associated herself in the lofty ideals expressed. The Polish delegates and Camille Huysmans, head of the Belgian delegation, added their strong approval.

"Is there any objection to the resolution?" asked M. Clemenceau. There was no response and he declared the resolution unanimously adopted.

Wilson Chairman.

M. Clemenceau then announced the composite committee and the order of the names as announced makes President Wilson chairman.

Louis Klotz of the French delegation proposed a financial section to the league of nations but the proposal finally went over.

M. Clemenceau proposed another plenary session on Monday for the selection of committees and without division this was adopted. At six o'clock the council adjourned until three o'clock Monday afternoon.

Personnel of Commission.

The delegates of the great powers on the league of nations, it was learned tonight will be:

For the United States—President Wilson and Col. Edward M. House.

For Great Britain—Lord Robert Cecil and General Jan Christian Smuts.

For France—Leon Bourgeois and Ferdinand Larnaude, dean of the faculty of law of the University of Paris.

For Italy—Premier Orlando and Vito Scialoja.

For Japan—Viscount Chinda and K. Okada.

The delegates of the small nations will be announced later.

of nations and mean to work out that principle in effective action, we shall by that single thing have lifted a great part of the load of anxiety from the hearts of men everywhere.

A STATE CONSTABULARY ARGUMENT.

A Jacksonville man said yesterday: "I noticed in the Journal a reference to violation of the speed law on one page and on another a paragraph that a bill for the state constabulary will be introduced in Springfield. Do you know if a constabulary is provided that the police it provides will take action in just such law violations as are occurring here? That being true, the state constabulary will certainly give a much needed service. It is true, too, that non-resident officers would find it far easier matter to enforce traffic laws and kindred measures than do 'home' officers, who of course have their friends and personal obligations."

CANDIDATES ARE NAMED.

The primary election yesterday brought only a light vote, as so often happens when only one nomination is to be made on each party ticket. The expense of holding such an election is just as great as if the full vote were cast, and it is a safe estimate that every vote in Saturday's election cost the county more than a dollar.

M. Clarence Thompson, the Republican nominee, is a farmer living northwest of Jacksonville. For several years he was in business in this city. His record is such as to give him the confidence of his friends and if elected a member of the county board he will give earnest attention to county business. The Journal will support his candidacy.

Charles N. Wyatt of Franklin has the Democratic nomination and is one of the well known residents of his home precinct. He is a successful farmer and business man.

Newspapers in referring to the estate left by the "King of Sarsaparilla" who was recently killed by his wife in an eastern city, have all said that he left property valued at only $230,000. Before the war these figures would have indicated a valuable estate, but now people have become so accustomed to talking in millions and billions that the news writer refers to $200,000 or $300,000 as a mere trifle.

THE WAY OF JUSTICE.

Justice is a strange thing in this country, especially as administered to women offenders against the law. It is almost impossible to secure the conviction for punishment of a murderer, yet an Illinois woman was recently sentenced to the penitentiary for fraud for a period of one to ten years. The heinous crime for which this woman was convicted was playing a confidence game upon a wealthy retired farmer, whom she had promised to marry. She lured the old man out of $3,000 or $4,000 and then refused to marry him. Why shouldn't she go to the penitentiary?

THE HOME RULE BILL.

One of the sharp criticisms in the legislative session this time promises to be over the measure which would abolish the state utilities commission. Utility companies have certainly had their troubles with increased expenses in operation, but it is also true that the people have their well founded grievances. There are some good points in argument for the home rule plan.

CITY POLITICS.

It is sometimes said that Jacksonville does not fare better municipally because there is too much politics here and that the city's interests take second place to those of individuals. Politics is a broad term and can mean almost anything in its relationship to public affairs. The city is not injured by politics or politicians if they are of the right type. The word "politics" can be construed to mean public interest and that is just what the city needs.

In the past there has been too much lack of interest in public affairs on the part of the people. There has been a tendency to elect officials to office and then not support them—or at least give little attention to the city's interests. Some times in the past the people have been negligent in the kind of candidates they have chosen. The ideal situation is for politics to be continually rife, not only at election time, but during all the intervening period, for if all the people are interested in public affairs all the time those affairs will be rightly handled.

A MAGNIFICENT EPITAPH.

Nothing finer has come out of this war than this line from an epitaph in your graveyard in London today."—London Truth.

A PRETTY GOOD ANSWER.

Every time figures are published about government operation of railroads there is more reason for thinking the property should be returned to private control. Recently figures have shown that the government in some way provides for a deficiency of $186,000,000, notwithstanding the higher rates for passengers and freight service the public has been paying. Another big increase in wages of employees is contemplated and to the fair-minded the figures under government control give the best answer to the government ownership proposal.

ENGLAND HAMMERING THE MARKETS.

The principal cause of the present upheaval in grain and livestock markets is said to be England. "John Bull" has the idea that war time prices should not prevail after the war for foodstuffs, and other necessities, and it begins to look like the English will have their way before many weeks. But it is also worth while to remember that lowered prices for grain represent the distinct purpose on the part of certain operators who are seeking for lower prices. That's the reason there is so much talk about Argentine corn and the chartering of ships to bring cargoes to the American market. The fact is that Argentina produces less than 10 per cent of all the corn the world grows and it is so hard that it is not useful for feed until it is ground. Nevertheless the story of Argentine shipments is helping to beat the corn price down.

Rippling Rhymes By Walt Mason

The Grief Hog.

There is no trouble here below for ordinary mortals; ex-kaiser Bill has cornered woe, and we have a woe, but chorches. The Kaiser always was a pig, when he was busy reigning; unless he got the portion big, he sat around complaining. And now that he's no longer chief, he's hogged the stock of sadness, he's cornered all there is of grief, and we're condemned to gladness. I try to dig up some despair, but there's none to gather; the Kaiser's got it in his lair, he has the whole blamed slaughter. Perhaps you think you have a woe, but it's an imitation; there isn't any, that I know in all this blooming nation. The Kaiser has it stored away, in boxes, bales and cases; it's all in his old castle gray, there's none in other places. It's really useless scratching round for any brand of sorrow; you cannot buy it by the pound, no gallon can you borrow. The Kaiser has it salted down, it's in his safe deposit; old Bill, the king without a crown, old Bill, the great what was it. So don't pretend yaddies many; for Bill has cornered all the care, and he won't part with any.

TAKES OWN LIFE BEFORE GIVEN FREEDOM.

New Albany, Ind., Jan. 25.—Just a few minutes before a circuit court jury trying the case of Charles Schneider, 43 years old, charged with murder, returned a verdict of not guilty today, Schneider cut his throat with a razor and was found dead in his cell when a court attach went to summon him to the court room to hear the verdict. He was accused of the murder of Stephen Miller, town marshal of Port Fulton, Ind., last July. The jury's verdict of not guilty was based on the decision that Schneider was of unsound mind at the time of the killing.

Of Musical Comedy Fame in "THE GOAT"

An Arctcraft Picture

YOU CAN'T SAY "PISH" TO AN EARTHQUAKE Whether you want to or not, you've got to take a definite attitude toward an earthquake. It won't let you ignore it. Fred Stone is a human earthquake. You can't ignore him. For years he has held a solitary position on the musical comedy stage as acrobat, comedian, actor, personality.

In his first Arctcraft picture, "The Goat," he does all of those things that have made him famous. As acrobat he thrills you with his reckless daring. As comedian he rocks the theater with laughter. As actor he holds you spellbound. And as a personality he wins your heart so that you will come again and again to see him. You can't ignore Fred Stone in "The Goat." COBLENZ A BEAUTIFUL CITY. Mrs. J. Herman has had more communication from her nephew, Harry Siff, located in Coblenz, Germany. The young gentleman says he walked a long distance in the city and it put the famous lake shore drive of Chicago utterly in the shade and Mr. Siff is a loyal resident of the great city too. He says the residences and grounds are handsomely adorned with statuary and grand trees that form arches and everything is superb. He received 25 letters Christmas day and in one of them five dollars which he said came in very handy as he was about broke, letters with remittances having failed to reach and the government slow in paying.

The American soldiers fitted up a Christmas tree with electric lighting and it was the wonder and astonishment of the people of the city. The Americans had a grand Christmas dinner, probably largely supplied by them.

SCHOOLS NEED GREATER FUNDS

R. O. Stoops One of Teachers' Association Urging Legislation to Provide for Increased Operation Costs.

R. O. Stoops, superintendent of the schools at Joliet, is spending Sunday in the city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Taylor on Grove street. Mr. Stoops, who has been superintendent of the Joliet schools for a number of years, was in Springfield yesterday to appear with educators representing the Illinois teachers' association before a committee of the legislature and officials of the department of education. Schools, like municipalities, are finding that their tax money is not sufficient these days and a measure is proposed whereby the rate of taxation can be increased if the people so desire by a referendum vote. The representatives of the teachers association believe this legislation will be satisfactory in that each school community will have the opportunity of increasing tax money if it so desires.

That Supt. Stoops has large responsibilities in Joliet is readily apparent when it is remembered that there are more than 6,000 pupils in the Joliet schools and a teaching force of about 225 members. It is a source of satisfaction to Jacksonville people to know that Mr. Stoops' services are greatly appreciated by the Joliet people and his salary has several times been raised since he entered upon his work there, after leaving this city.

We are advised by manufacturers and jobbers that patterns will be limited and that it will be impossible to duplicate any of the numbers—in short, it will not be possible yet to get just exactly, perhaps, the pattern that you have in mind.

METHODISTS PLAN FOR GREAT THINGS

Centenary Movement Means Much to the Church and Religion Generally—Four Jacksonville Ministers Attended Conference in Chicago.

The Jacksonville ministers who attended the area conference of the Methodist church in Chicago have returned. The group included Rev. E. L. Fletcher, superintendent of Jacksonville district; Dr. F. M. Ryle, Rev. F. B.

Madden and Rev. J. O. Kirkpatrick. The returned ministers all gave enthusiastic reports about the conference which was one of great inspirational value. In the various districts conferences are to be held and an intensive campaign will be waged in the coming months in support of the Centenary Movement.

Mr. Fletcher has already called a conference in this district of the heads of sub-divisions and the heads of departments of churches throughout the district. Ministers and laymen will meet for this conference Monday at the Dunlap hotel. The following summary of the work done at the conference was secured for publication by Rev. Mr. Fletcher and will give the members and friends of the Methodist church a very clear idea of the meaning of the Chicago meeting:

A great praise and intercession service in the First Church, Chicago, opened the World Program Conference for Chicago Area on Monday evening, January 21st, in charge of Bishop Thomas Nicholson. Dr. W. E. Doughty made the chief address: "The Centenary movement is probably the most important movement that any church has inaugurated since the day of Pentecost," declared Mr. George W. Dixon, chairman of the World Program Conference for Chicago Area, and who presided at the opening session at Orchestra Hall, Tuesday morning, January 22nd. The attendance at this session numbered about 1,500 people and the number increased until there were nearly 2,000 at the evening meeting.

"It is a movement," Mr. Dixon continued, "with a world vision. It purposes to reach the remotest man and woman of every color with the message of the Christ." Bishop Thomas Nicholson gave a brief history of the Centenary movement and then said "Crowns have fallen like the leaves of the forest. The world has become a forest; women have been enfranchised; America has become the dividing factor in the struggle for world democracy, and for a Christian program for the nations. The Centenary program contemplates putting all government and all diplomacy, the world around, on an open and even justice for high and low, for rich and poor and proposes that, as we have made the love of God burn up the base desires in the individual soul, we shall now extend the spirit of Christ to all realms of human action and that we shall make the love of God and of man burn all the baseness out of human relations."

Tremendous Enthusiasm.
The program was opened in charge of Prof. E. C. Excell, with Prof. A. W. Roper, pianist, and Miss Tina Mae Haines, organist. Immediately following the singing, Dr. W. E. Doughty, laid special emphasis on the spiritual content of the Centenary program, "The Foreign Survey" with the aid of maps and charts vividly portrayed by Mrs. Ralph Ward, Howard Musser, J. M. Taylor and John M. Springer. Dr. Earl Bull spoke on the remarkable progress of Christianity in Japan. Dr. C. A. Tindley of Philadelphia, pastor of the largest colored Methodist church in the United States, created tremendous enthusiasm and brought the immense crowd to its feet with his oratory on the part of the colored Methodists would take in this program.

Mrs. Thomas Nicholson presided at the Ladies' Banquet at Marshall Field's at which women were present. Dr. Fred B. Fisher made a stimulating address on the part women could take in this program followed by a unique address by Dr. Tindley. The German, Central Illinois, North Indiana, Northwest Indiana, Rock River, Illinois and the Swedish Conference met at various banqueting halls for luncheon, at which inspiring addresses were made.

A Methodist Skyscraper.
At the afternoon session, Dr. D. D. Forsyth gave a very illuminating and exhaustive address on the "Home Survey" which was illustrated with maps, charts and lantern slides. Dr. Forsyth said that the Home Mission department had made an extensive survey of the home field and carefully compared it with all the Protestant denominations. It had also made surveys of all the cities and towns. Brief but interesting addresses were made by Mr. Paul Vogt, on "Rural Work," Dr. M. P. Burns on "City Work," Dr. R. E. Diffendorfer on "Frontier" and Dr. C. A. Tindley spoke on "The Negro in the North." Special Chicago Area problems were interestingly explained by Dr. John Thompson, who made the announcement that a great Methodist skyscraper would be built on the present site of the First Methodist Washington Street Church, Chicago. This announcement was received with great applause. Dr. H. R. DeBra explained the needs of the Calumet territory and the rural problem was discussed by Dr. J. H. Ryan.

Prominent Speakers on Program.
Mr. George W. Dixon, president at the Laymen's Banquet at the Auditorium Hotel, at which over 700 of the prominent laymen of the Area were present. The speakers were Bishop Nicholson, C. D. Nordemann, John C. Shaffer, editor and owner of the Chicago Post and other papers; Judge H. R. Snavely, C. S. Ward, R. J. Wade, Prof. J. A. James of Northwestern College, President J. J. James of Illinois University; President Thomas F. Holgate of Northwestern University, former Governor, Charles S. Deneen, Major Clancy of Minneapolis, Mr. A. L. Parker, Detroit, and Christian R. Reiser, New York. The ministers' banquet was held at the Morrison hotel. Dr. John Thompson acted as toastmaster. Dr. F. B. Fisher, executive secretary, national campaign committee, gave an inspirational address, in which he dwelt especially on how the Centenary movement would help in India, China and Russia and other foreign countries as well as at home.

Following the banquets, Rev. Summer Vinton had charge of a stereopticon lecture at the evening session, "Making Democracy Safe for the World," and the closing address was made by Dr. Tindley.

Wednesday was a great day and the Hall was packed to its limits. The program in the morning was opened by Dr. W. E. Doughty, who spoke on "The Centenary and War Reconstruction." Dr. Victor E. Thrall, executive manager, Chicago campaign, spoke briefly but concisely, upon the work of his department. "The Centenary working Program" was discussed in its different phases by Drs. John Richards, G. Franklin Ream, J. W. Potter, W. J. Davidson, E.

M. Mills and C. E. Guthrie. The latter spoke on "The Centenary and the Epworth League" and said there was about a round million of young people, boys and girls, in our Epworth League, an organization which is self supporting and self directing, and which has set for itself the goal of $400,000 for the Centenary to be given by themselves. The League expects to enlist 40 per cent of its members as Christian Stewards and seeks to enroll 75 per cent of its adherents to be 24 hour a day leaguers.

Copy Uncle Sam's Methods.
Dr. C. F. Reiser, in charge of the Minute Men Organization gave the origin of the plan, told of its value and said he believed it would be a permanent institution in Methodism. "The Resources of the Church" was the subject discussed by Dr. John W. Hancher, director area organization, who said that the church could copy Uncle Sam's methods which he briefly described as follows: the fulcrum was publicity, the lever, organization, the weight on the long end or the lever was prayer and the result was victory and millions of dollars. Dr. R. J. Wade, executive secretary of the Chicago Area explained the methods whereby the Centenary would be brought to a successful consummation in the Area.

In the afternoon session, addresses were made by Dr. E. C. Hickman, Associate Executive Secretary, National Committee, who explained briefly and interestingly, the national organization. Mr. C. S. Ward, campaign director, National Committee, spoke on "The Intensive Financial Drive." He said it was evident that the laymen intended to carry the campaign thru and in the final analysis, the success of the financial campaign depended on the laymen. He was positive that the spirit exhibited by the delegates assured the success of the campaign. Drs. John Richards and W. A. Brown explained "The Victory in Central New York," and created great enthusiasm. Dr. Fred B. Fisher had charge of the last hour of the afternoon session and pleaded for a deep spiritual devotion.

Mr. John R. Mott and Bishop William F. McDowell.

Orchestra Hall was filled to its utmost capacity and many were turned away for the closing inspirational rally, at which Bishop Thomas Nicholson presided and George W. Dixon, Chicago, and other prominent laymen, the district superintendents and National and Chicago Area officers were present on the platform. Dr. Mott was received with great applause and made a remarkable address. "We have been schooled by the war to large dimensions in money and the giving of life," declared Dr. Mott, "and nothing less than the Centenary aim could satisfy the church. You cannot get big gifts from big men unless you have big plans. It even takes a big thing to bring out the best there is in a small man. After infinite pain the Allies learned the value of unity and we must learn to cooperate in all the churches in reaching the last man. This is the time in all the ages to press evangelism and the objects of the Centenary."

In speaking of the criticism of the Y. M. C. A., Dr. Mott said, "If critics are honest, they will name the time and place at which specific acts demanding criticism have been committed. Then if their criticisms are being investigated until they learn the result, they will know the Y. M. C. A. more intimately than any other man, and I know there is a mere handful of things to criticize compared with the vast extent of the good things which all admit the Y. M. C. A. has done."

Immortality a World Question.
When Bishop McDowell arose he waved his hand towards Dr. Mott and said to the audience, "I told Dr. Mott not to be too soft and apologetic towards his critics. If there is to be an investigation, I would like to inquire why there should not be an investigation of a lot of other organizations engaged in war work? I have some perfectly good information for his use. Such an investigation is made," Bishop McDowell said. "The best way to secure unity of all the churches and organic unity of the Methodist family of churches, now divided, is to do Christ's work in a big way. The 11,000,000 graves made by this war have made immortality a world question which must help answer."

After a brief closing address by Bishop Nicholson, Dr. Charles M. Stuart pronounced the benediction and the World Program Convention was concluded with the feeling that it had been the most remarkable religious gathering of Methodists held for years. It is estimated that nearly three thousand persons were present at the various meetings including all the district superintendents of the Chicago Area, and that three thousand persons attended the banquets on Tuesday noon.

SHURTLEFF SWAMPED BY ILLINOIS COLLEGE

Blue and White Five Win by Score of 72 to 25—Coach Harmon Tries all of His Men—Tomlinson, Cully and Farrell Star.

Illinois College swamped Shurtleff at basketball in David Prince gym Saturday evening, the final score being 72 to 25. Had Coach Harmon not given all of his squad a chance it is probable that the first string men would have run up a score of one hundred or more.

Just before the game started the Illinois men met and elected Edward Tomlinson, veteran center, captain of the 1919 team.

The game uncovered a new star in Felix Farrell, a youngster who played his first varsity game. Farrell is young and tired in the latter part of the game. However, he showed good eye for basketball and should develop into a star player with another year's experience.

All of the men played good basketball, Tomlinson alone making enough points to defeat the visitors. He was closely followed by Cully who totaled 22 points. Tomlinson's total was 28 points.

While the Illinois five played an excellent offensive game Coach Harmon was not satisfied with the defensive play. He said that 25 points were too many for a team of the caliber of Shurtleff to score and that with a stronger defensive team it was likely the game would be lost.

There was but little to commend the visitors. They lacked team work and staying qualities and were not in condition for a fast game. The point makers were Kelsey, Wildeman and Roberts. The score:

LAND BELONGING HOPPER ESTATE SOLD

Tract Near Joy Prairie Purchased By John Hadden—Homestead Property Sold to Joshua Vasconcellos.

Land belonging to the estate of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Hopper was sold at auction at the south door of the court house Saturday in a partition proceedings, under the direction of Henry English, master in chancery. Charles M. Strawn was the auctioneer. Forty acres of high class land located north of Joy Prairie station was purchased by George Morris who acted for John Hadden. The land brought $9,000 or $225 an acre. The tract adjoins Mr. Hadden's farm.

The old homestead, located at the corner of Diamond and Walnut streets was then offered for sale and was purchased by Joshua Vasconcellos for $7,075. It includes 25 acres of land and the price is considered very low for this property, located as it is and with fair improvements. Mr. Vasconcellos purchased it for Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeFries, who now live on the Williamson farm northwest of Jacksonville and operate also the Crabtree farm adjoining. Mrs. DeFries is a daughter of Mr. Vasconcellos.

CITED FOR SERVICE.
The war department's list of officers and men cited for distinguished service yesterday carried the name of Private Fred E. Wallace of Roodhouse. He is the son of Mrs. Laura B. Wallace and is a member of Co. F, 119th infantry. The following facts are given in regard to this young soldier's brave conduct. He displayed extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, Oct. 17-19, 1918. Private Wallace volunteered and located the right flank of Co. G and the left flank of Co. H, 119th regiment, under heavy machine gun fire. He was wounded while on his mission, but returned with the desired information.

This is the principle of the American people. We are strong enough to stop the greatest world's war; we will be wise enough to guide the world in the great period of reconstruction to our good. Mr. Wilson said the world must be fed to stop Bolsheviki influence. There is a movement to raise wages in Europe, which will mean satisfied stomachs instead of hunger; and we must raise more food to feed them. FARMERS PLANNING FOR REPRESENTATION

Secretary Employed by Agricultural Association to Discuss Food Production and Livestock Topics With Government Authorities. Problems of Reconstruction are Numerous.

A meeting of the Farmers Club was held at the court house at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, in accordance with the call made by G. B. Kendall, county agent, at this time, H. E. Kitter and H. J. Rice, who were delegates to the meeting of the Illinois Agricultural association in Peoria, made their report and Mr. Kendall told something of a recent conference of county agents in Urbana.

The agricultural association includes farm bureau organizations throughout the state. At present there are sixty counties in the state with crop improvement associations or farmers clubs, and more than half of them have membership in the organization mentioned, nearly all other counties were represented.

Farmers Not Represented. The most important action taken was in providing for a special representative of farm organizations in matters especially relating to prices. It has been recognized in the past that when any important conference was held in Chicago or Washington to discuss questions relating to food supply, that packers, labor and others are represented but that the farmers, who produce the food stuffs, have no representation. To meet this situation is one of the purposes of the Illinois Agricultural association.

At the Peoria meeting a special fund of $10,000 was quickly raised to provide for this representation. One hundred men present each pledged $100 which it is expected will be later provided by the various organizations. By the raising of this fund it was immediately made possible to employ a secretary especially for the representation mentioned and D. O. Thompson, who has been serving as county advisor in McLean county, was secured for the work. One reason for quick action in raising the fund is that a conference is to be held in Washington Monday or Tuesday relative to the price of hogs for the next thirty days, and it was desired to have Mr. Thompson present at that conference.

Possibilities of Organization. Both Mr. Kitter and Mr. Rice said that every man of the large number of delegates present was enthusiastic over the possibilities thru organized effort and that from the discussions had it was very apparent that during these reconstruction days that farmers are to need more than ever before, some definite representation at national or state councils where prices of foodstuffs are fixed.

Mr. Kendall said that at the county agents' meeting in Urbana that some of the discussion was along the same line as that which had been reported from the Peoria meeting, as it is realized that the farmers are to meet new and important problems this year in the matter of produce and price.

Mr. Kendall said that in the years since crop improvement associations have been organized there has been a great deal of advancement in their work in co-operative buying which has thus effected a saving in a considerable way. He said that it was not too much to think that at some date in the future there would be still more distinct selling organizations existing among the farmers.

It is the thought of the future that the time may come when there may be more stability in the prices for farm produce so that instead of gambling altogether with the weather and markets the farmer may have some idea as to what price his crops or livestock will command when ready for market. The day may come when farmers of a given territory or section will be asked to produce a certain amount of foodstuffs at a certain price.

Receiving Farmer's Wages. In the earlier discussion in the meeting Mr. Kitter brought out the thought that in these days of reconstruction when labor talks about reduction in wages, that any such reduction will apply to the future. In the case of a farmer, reduction in the price of grain or livestock applies to the past.

He said that in his own case that practically all of his profits for the year were now invested in both cattle and hogs. If there should come a sudden or sharp reduction in the price of these animals his earnings for the year would be wiped out. Altogether the Saturday session was of an informing kind and brought out many questions for those present to consider.

RED CROSS SAVES AMERICAN SOLDIERS

(Fulton Democrat.) The many friends of Harley Sanders have many times wondered how the poor lad was faring in the German prison, where he had to spend six months or more, but not until now have they had the real story of the boy's sufferings. It makes it very hard for those who knew and loved him to want to have any hand in feeding the Germans when they read the following pathetic story which came in a letter to his sister, Miss Pearl Sanders, last week:

Friday Afternoon, Dec. 20, 1918. Dear Sister:—Just a few words to let you know that on Wednesday afternoon I received nine letters from you—the first I have received since I left the states, and it made me very happy to know that you are well and happy, or were when you wrote last, which was some time in July, 1918.

I cannot make this letter very long. I have so much to say that I do not know where to start, so I will tell you all about what I have gone thru since I left the states.

Life in Germany was simply Hell for one who was dying of hunger until the American Red Cross took a hand in and began to send us food and clothing. If it had not been for them half of the boys would have never returned home to see their loved ones.

The German food which they fed us was of cow-beet's soup, burnt barley for coffee, without sugar or milk. For meat we ate behind the lines the dead horses killed the night before by the French and American guns. I myself, have killed cats and ate them rather than starve. While in Deutschland (Germany) for a gold ring mother gave me for a birthday present, a German soldier gave me one loaf of sour bread, consisting of saw-dust, potatoes and some kind of dark looking flour and about five spoonfuls of sour or bitter jam.

For a large black pocket-book mother also gave me, I got one-half a loaf of bread.

If you want to you can tell the editor of the News about this and that will let the people know what a prisoner's life is in Germany.

I wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. I hope everyone is well and happy. Give my love to grandma and grandpa.

I am now gaining in weight every day. I did not tell you that I had a cracked rib while in Germany, but I did. They wanted to cut on me, but I refused to let them, for if I had I would have been dead in 24 hours. I close for this time.

Lovingly your brother, Pvt. Harley Sanders. Hotel De Bain, Vichy, France. P. S.—I do not know whether I am to return home or go back to my company. I hope it is Home, Sweet Home.

RECORDING OF SOLDIERS' DISCHARGES

A Generous County Board Has Arranged for it to Be Done Free of Charge.

The board of county commissioners, otherwise Capt. J. M. Swales and Charles Magill, arranged yesterday with Circuit Clerk Boston to record the discharges of all returning soldiers and sailors free of charge. This splendid movement is in accord with what the Journal has urged a number of times and the county board are to be commended for this patriotic act. As was the case with the discharges of men in the civil war, the clerk will have printed blanks and bound in regular record books similar to the pages prepared for regular mortgages and deeds so that the work of recording cannot be great.

Every soldier who has a discharge in his possession should lose no time in leaving it at the office of the circuit clerk as soon as that gentleman has the necessary preparations made and then, no matter what happens to the document, it will have a duplicate on record where it will be safe from harm, loss and destruction. The county board have done a righteous and wise deed. We owe our very existence as a free land to the men in khaki and the service we render them is small pay for what they did.

IN THIS ANNOUNCEMENT OF UNHEARD OF PRICES OF COATS, SUITS, SKIRTS, BLOUSES, FURS AND MILLINERY DURING THE COMING WEEK, IT IS WELL FOR YOU TO INVESTIGATE THE OFFERINGS PRESENTED FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION.

There's Always a Saving on Wirthmor Waists

There's always a saving on Wirthmor Waists, for the many great economies of the Wirthmor Plan in buying materials, in the making and in the selling of Waists insures that.

Consider these facts: That for several months past, cotton fabrics have cost from 100 to 200% over pre-war days; that trimmings have advanced proportionately; that labor costs have gone up excessively and then you'll wonder as we do, how the price has been kept down so long.

That the price must now be advanced to maintain the quality is not in the least bit surprising; it's surprising rather that this did not occur a long time since for during these past many months Wirthmor Waists could readily have been sold at $1.50; in fact, would have represented splendid values at that price.

The New Wirthmor Waists Priced at $1.50

$1.50 is the lowest price at which a worthy Waist can now be sold. Up to this price the Wirthmor folks will hereafter build Waists that will be just as superior to all others at the price as have the Wirthmors in the past at the former price. For these things the word Wirthmor—always will stand; style insurance; quality insurance; economy insurance; the positive assurance that you are receiving the very ultimate in value for your expenditure.

JUNIOR RED CROSS NOTES

The Junior Red Cross organization for Morgan county is now being completed. This is a regular branch of the American Red Cross as applied to schools. The organization in Morgan county was begun last spring and was resumed this fall when schools opened, but due to the influenza situation it has been impossible to push the work until very recently.

Circulars explaining the exact nature of the organization and necessary blanks have been mailed to each school in the county. It is hoped that we may be able to report a 100% county for school auxiliaries of the American Red Cross.

As soon as applications for membership have been approved by the county and division headquarters, 1919 Red Cross pins will be mailed to each school, in sufficient number, for each child. Fine lithograph diplomas or school auxiliary certificates will be issued to each school completing its organization. This is a beautiful war memorial and when properly cared for will become a valuable record to the school. It is hoped that each school in Morgan county will have a framed Red Cross diploma to serve as a memorial of the world war.

Just now the division headquarters are authorizing two important lines of work. One is the supplying and supporting of war orphans; and the other is the carrying out of the home health tournament. This latter is authorized by the officers of the Junior Red Cross and is conducted in conjunction with the Illinois Tuberculosis Association and has the joint approval of both bodies. It is hoped that all Junior Red Cross organizations will make this latter a feature of their school work as it is in the line of health instruction.

It is hoped that all schools will remember that this is the time to organize and send in their application blanks at once. The Morgan county committee is as follows and all application blanks should be sent directly to the secretary. Committee: Supt. H. A. Perrin, chairman; H. H. Vasconcellos, Co. Supt., vice chairman; J. R. Colbert, Prin. H. S. Waverly, auditor; Miss Helen Calky, H. S., treasurer; Miss Clara C. Cobb, Jacksonville, Grade Prin., secretary.

Willard STORAGE BATTERY SERVICE STATION

Ever Kick a Battery to Pieces?

Of course you wouldn't do it intentionally. No good driver would.

But a lot of experienced drivers of trucks and passenger cars have kicked their batteries to pieces without even knowing it by banging on the starting button when the motor didn't take hold at once.

Perhaps the trouble was just thick oil. Maybe water had accumulated in the carburetor.

Possibly a connection had worked loose.

But whatever it was the battery had to suffer. You can get far longer life from your battery, and incidentally from your whole car if you'll always be sure where the trouble is and correct it just as soon as you locate it.

We test, repair and recharge storage batteries, and always carry a full supply of battery parts, new batteries and rental batteries

You Cannot Have Style Unless There Is Quality

In shoes, as in everything else, it is impossible to build perfect styles from poor quality—it can't be done. There first must be quality or the styles that your heart was set upon, and that you bought with so much pleasure, will not stand up.

It is the policy of this store to sell quality footwear first, last and all the time, for the least money; and in doing so we don't have to bother much about the style—style follows quality as night follows day.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

The Student Christian Association had planned a series of special meetings for the first week in February. The leader of the meetings was to have been the Reverend A. P. Higley of Cleveland, Ohio. Word has just come that Dr. Higley is very ill with the influenza and cannot be here. Dr. Higley is very popular among the students and all feel deep regret that he cannot come to the college.

The Devotional Association will meet as usual at Academy hall Sunday evening at 6:30. The leader will be

The Chapel exercises of the past week have been made interesting through the presence of several out of town speakers. On Monday, the students were addressed by Mr. Louis Wallis, who spoke on the significance of the French Revolution. On Tuesday, Dr. S. H. Dana, a former trustee and a warm college friend of Dean Hayden delivered a very interesting talk, and on Friday two Conservatory students gave a couple of musical numbers, Miss Lucille Baker sang and Miss Helen Sorrelles played the violin, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mabel Forrester.

Dr. William F. Luebke, the new acting professor of English, is expected to arrive about the end of January.

The committee appointed by the trustees to secure a memorial tablet in memory of Governor Duncan, Jonathan Baldwin Turner and Newton D. Bateman is proceeding with its work. The tablet will probably be placed in the Jones building some time during the spring.

President Rammelkamp recently received an interesting letter from Homer J. Bale. It seems that Bale's unit was sent into service action on the morning of the armistice. The messenger lost his way and was two hours late in arriving at that particular end of the line. The result was the unnecessary service of a large number of the men; among them a brother of Paul Watkins of Petersburg.

Obtain More Dollars for Your Grain Use a United Feed Grinder

Feeding whole grain is very expensive, a fact that has been proven by all the experimental stations. Ground feed is thoroly digested, therefore it takes less grain to make more fat, your stock remains in better health, gains more weight in less time, brings bigger and quicker results.

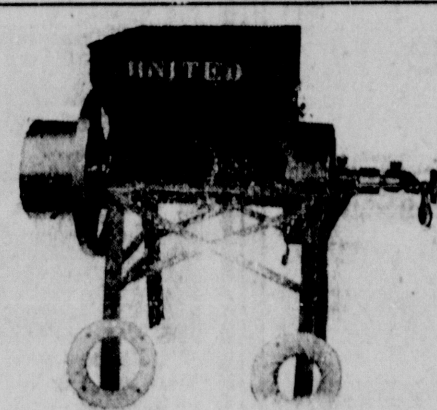

Facts Worth Knowing

SELF-SHARPENING BURRS—One of the most important parts of a feed mill are the grinding burrs. Years of experience in building feed mills have enabled us to produce in the new UNITED MILL, self-sharpening, oscillating burrs that have made this mill favored above all others.

SELF-SHARPENING—Because UNITED burrs have flat-faced teeth instead of the old type "V" shape, the surface of each tooth wears exactly to the same degree as the one next to it. There can be no unevenness in the wearing of these teeth, and furthermore, the more they wear, the sharper they become. The shearing or scissors effect produced by the flat-faced tooth makes it possible to grind even oats which you cannot do with ordinary burrs. The self-sharpening teeth do not make the grinding, rumbling noise found in other types of mills. UNITEDS are silent.

SELF-ALIGNING—One burr is securely mounted on the main shaft; the other equipped with a four-point suspension. It oscillates to the side, or forward and back. This oscillating burr must follow the burr on the shaft. This is real automatic alignment and equal pressure is maintained on all parts of the burrs.

UNITED burrs are made of specialized steel—they last longer and grind many times more feed. By removing two bolts you gain quick access to the burrs.

You will get much more feed with less power, or much more feed with the same power. Grinds fine or coarse, fast or slow. The UNITED Mill was designed by experts—built by experts—it must render you a super-quality service.

UNITED USERS ARE PROUD OF THESE FEEDED IN THEIR FEED MILLS

- 1 Grind the finest table meal or coarsest feed for stock. Hair-breadth adjustment.
- 2 Grind more feed with same power or same amount with much less power than any other mill.
- 3 Grind with a Ball Bearing Mill—The United runs smoothly and without noise.
- 4 Four-point oscillating burrs with flat-faced self-sharpening teeth—Will Even Grind Your Oats, Burrs are Specialized steel, hard as glass.
- 5 Automatic worm feed drives grain to burrs—the result is maximum capacity.
- 6 Heavy rigid main frame mounted on our angle steel legs, securely braced.
- 7 Big hopper of 18-gauge steel. High carbon steel main shaft with a perfectly balanced Ball Bearing to absorb end thrust friction.
- 8 Quick release lever, hinged safety bottom, generous oil cups, high quality babbitting.

GRIND MORE WITH A UNITED

Facts Worth Knowing

THE UNITED SOLID FRAME is well supported by four heavy angle steel legs thoroughly braced. Only a minimum of friction because all castings are perfectly babbitted.

THE LARGE, SUBSTANTIAL HOPPER—Heavier steel is used in our UNITED Mill Hopper than in any other mill. It is of 18-gauge and the top edge is thoroughly reinforced by rolling the steel over a heavy one-fourth inch steel rod.

THE MAIN SHAFT is of high carbon steel. The UNITED is a BALL BEARING MILL, the very highest quality ball bearing, consisting of ground steel balls, running between two case-hardened, crucible steel blocks. These perfectly absorb the end thrust friction.

UNITED WORM FEED forces the grain to the oscillating burrs, increasing the grinding capacity. The cutter bar and knives on the concave bottom help to reduce cob corn to particles before it enters the burrs.

THE UNITED FLY WHEEL is perfectly balanced, causing the mill to run smoothly at all times.

UNITED SPECIAL SAFETY DEVICE—Wood break plus in the safety hinged bottom will give way if any obstructions should enter the burrs. UNITED Mills are fool-proof.

UNITED QUICK RELEASE FEED LEVER regulates the tension—burrs may be separated instantly. A convenient hand wheel regulates the fineness of the grain.

CAPT. GIBSON WRITES FROM FRENCH SOIL

Former County Resident Has Been in Medical Service at Front for More Than Year—Tells of Visit to Paris.
The following letter was written from overseas by Capt. Stanley Gibson, who has been in France since Sept. 1917. Capt. Gibson grew to manhood near Pisgah, attending College Grove school and afterward graduated from the Franklin high school. Still later he was a student at Illinois college. The letter indicates that he has not only seen active service in the medical department of the army but also that he has been a keen observer of overseas happenings.

December 10, 1918.
Dear Brother Edwin:
It is now almost a week since we returned from leave, and we feel pretty well rested after our two weeks strenuous sight-seeing. I should like to tell you all about it, but it is a long story, so I shall merely sketch briefly some of the things that interested us most, and allow the rest to wait until I can relate it to you in person, and if we can judge by the rumors that are afloat now, the British will probably release us within a month or two, so we hope to be home in the early spring.

My room mate and I went to Paris November 21st, and spent the two following days attending a medical meeting. Those two days did not count on our leave, though we found considerable time between sessions to do a little window shopping stroll about on the boulevards, and attend theater.

We arrived in Paris in the evening, and as we walked out of the station, we were bewildered by the brilliant lighting of streets and buildings. In our previous visits to the city, we had groped about in the darkness, in fact we had not been in a town with lights gleaming since we left New York. The people seemed more animated than usual, but had become fairly quiet, compared to the delirium of joy which marked the first few days following the armistice. The city was trisling with allied flags. We were particularly interested in the war trophies which lined the broad esplanade along the Seine. Hundreds of pieces of German artillery of all descriptions, aeroplanes, tanks, and ruins of a zeppelin were on display at convenient places. Booths had been established to receive subscriptions to the fourth war loan—the "Loan of Liberation."

Picturesque Scenery.
After the two days in Paris, we took the train for Nice where we had planned to spend our leave. We left at night, and when we awoke next morning we were somewhere south of Lyon in the Rhone valley, with low rather barren mountains on either side. Quite picturesque, but less pleasing than the rich, rolling agricultural country which one sees in other sections of France. The scenery reminded me of that described by Stevenson in his "Travels with a Donkey." We arrived in Nice just at dusk. Next morning when we looked out of our hotel window to see what our immediate environment was, we found a palm garden, with the blue Mediterranean just beyond it. I suppose one should always say the blue Mediterranean. I believe it was Irvin Cobb who said that people spoke of the blue Danube because it was such a muddy yellow. I thought at first that the Mediterranean always had the blue predilect because it was such a dull gray, but when the sun was full upon it, the color was a genuine deep blue. We rang the bell, ordered breakfast sent to our room, settled ourselves in pajamas near the open window, and as we ate, we agreed that, temporarily at least, we felt like real quality folks.

The climate there is almost tropical. We feasted our eyes on mountain scenery, palms, orange and olive trees, roses, pansies, geraniums, and other flowers, and on villas of a lurviance that made us gasp. That region is the Palm Beach and the southern California of France, or perhaps I should say it the other way about.

We spent two days in taking auto trips, one up into the mountains, the other to the Italian border. An American lady at our hotel who has lived several years in Nice was very helpful in arranging our tours, and coaching us on prices and tips so that we were not unduly robbed. The French seem still to have the idea that all Americans have more money than is wholesome for them, and the worst of it is that they exact it so neatly and graciously that one almost enjoys being held up.

Of course the best known place in the vicinity is Monte Carlo. The Casino is a palace, surrounded by parks and gardens such as only French artistic taste and a congenial climate could supply. Men in uniform were not allowed in the gambling hall, but the doors and see them "work." The majority were women. Most of the boys suggested that just for spite we might sit down on the steps outside and shoot dice.

Thanksgiving at Nice.
Our last day at Nice was Thanksgiving—as perfect a summer day as one could have desired. There were so many Americans at our hotel that the proprietor served a Turkey dinner, and apologized because he couldn't give us cranberries and pumpkin pie.

We hurried away, before our leave had expired, hoping after getting back to Paris to be able to get a glimpse of some portion of the front before returning to camp. The same evening that we arrived I learned that one could get transportation to Chateau Thierry. I became interested at once, and especially because that name will be familiar to American school children and a shrine for American travelers for generations. My pal couldn't go because of an appointment to meet some friends in Paris, so I went alone. If you have seen Mildred Aldrich's book, "A Hill-top on the Marne," you will have gained a better idea of the charming country between Paris and Chateau Thierry than I could give you. It is well worth reading.

On reaching the town, climbed up on a hill where stands the ruins of an old chateau, and from which I gained an admirable panorama of the village and of the portion of the valley of the Marne where the Americans were engaged. The town had been badly pounded by shell-fire, but the majority of the buildings were standing, many habitable. I then hopped a French truck and rode some two or three miles to the hill where our lads had their fiercest fighting.

Though the battle occurred five months ago, one might have thought it had occurred only the week before, judging by the debris that still littered the ground. In the fields and woods guns trench hats, gas masks, pieces of uniform, shells and hand grenades by the hundreds could be seen. There were no extensive trench system, but wherever a clump of trees, a ravine, or an embankment offered cover, dug-outs and gun emplacements were found. At the edge of one shell crater, a U. S. cartridge belt with several rounds of ammunition scattered about, a trench hat, and a gas mask told their tragic story. Trees were pock marked by machine gun fire, and in some places the artillery had disfigured the landscape.

Brought Away Souvenir.
I brought away only one souvenir—enr—a German helmet that bore evidence of some one's marksmanship. I wanted a hand grenade, but I wasn't sure which were the live ones so I let them severely alone.

Returning to Paris that evening, we caught a train for Amiens, hoping to get from there to the Somme battle field. No trains are running in that region but there are many trucks, so armed with our best diplomacy and plenty of cigarettes to aid in convincing the chauffeurs that our intentions were good, we tried our luck. We had no difficulty in making it to Albert, or what was once Albert. From there we caught another ride to Peronne, and that was a tour de luxe. Our driver was a British sergeant who had been through the Somme battle, and he showed us where the different positions were, told us how the attacks were launched, and many interesting incidents of the fighting, and through all that region for miles and miles it was pictures of such desolation as makes it impossible to describe.

Every field was so scarred with shell holes and trenches that they fairly encroached on each other. Villages had been so completely leveled that one would not suspect their having existed, save for an occasional cellar wall which marked the location of a house. Everything was overgrown with rank grass and weeds. Not a live tree was to be seen. Some were merely stumps, while others had a few scraggly branches, as if they had been struck by lightning or swept by a forest fire. In the midst of all the ruin, we couldn't help being amused by one thing that we saw. At the front of one building which was little more than a heap of bricks and plaster was a sign, badly askew, with the words, "Considered Safe."

We wondered where the danger zone had been.
Visions of a Reprimand.
About 2:30 in the afternoon we began to think about getting back to Amiens. Some British soldiers almost gave us a chill by telling us that the trucks seldom passed that way in the afternoon. We were thirty-five miles away, and our leave expired the following day. He had visions of a forced march, or of a reprimand for getting home a day late, but by means of three different conveyances, and walking a few miles we reached Amiens by supper time. We were ready for it as we had had no lunch.

The next morning, before taking our train, we looked about the town. By comparison with the places we had just seen it looked very well indeed, yet an enormous amount of damage had been done.

The cathedral, considered one of the finest examples of Gothic architecture, is scarred, and many of the windows broken. If any one is inclined to be overly lenient as to the indemnity Germany should pay, I would recommend that he visit the battle fields.

We got home very tired, very enthusiastic about our varied experiences, and dead broke.

We continue to be moderately busy. There are about 1,500

After the armistice was declared, the restrictions on cameras were removed, and the friends are now busy taking pictures about camp. I am sure of a good collection, so will be able to give you some idea of our surroundings when we get home. Joe and I also got some good ones of the various places we visited on leave.
Have had no mail from home for some days but some parcels and papers came this evening. That usually means that letters will follow in a day or two.
Lovingly,

Horses, cows, hogs and farm implements will be sold by Mrs. Alex Miller at the farm, 3 miles southwest of Alexander, next Thursday, Jan. 30. Sale begins at 10:30 a. m. Charles M. Strawn, Auctioneer.

This begins the 19th year and the 24th consecutive monthly visit made by Dr. C. W. Carson, the Chicago specialist in chronic diseases to our city. enr—a German helmet that bore evidence of some one's marksmanship. I wanted a hand grenade, but I wasn't sure which were the live ones so I let them severely alone.
Returning to Paris that evening, we caught a train for Amiens, hoping to get from there to the Somme battle field. No trains are running in that region but there are many trucks, so armed with our best diplomacy and plenty of cigarettes to aid in convincing the chauffeurs that our intentions were good, we tried our luck. We had no difficulty in making it to Albert, or what was once Albert. From there we caught another ride to Peronne, and that was a tour de luxe. Our driver was a British sergeant who had been through the Somme battle, and he showed us where the different positions were, told us how the attacks were launched, and many interesting incidents of the fighting, and through all that region for miles and miles it was pictures of such desolation as makes it impossible to describe.
Every field was so scarred with shell holes and trenches that they fairly encroached on each other. Villages had been so completely leveled that one would not suspect their having existed, save for an occasional cellar wall which marked the location of a house. Everything was overgrown with rank grass and weeds. Not a live tree was to be seen. Some were merely stumps, while others had a few scraggly branches, as if they had been struck by lightning or swept by a forest fire. In the midst of all the ruin, we couldn't help being amused by one thing that we saw. At the front of one building which was little more than a heap of bricks and plaster was a sign, badly askew, with the words, "Considered Safe."
We wondered where the danger zone had been.
Visions of a Reprimand.
About 2:30 in the afternoon we began to think about getting back to Amiens. Some British soldiers almost gave us a chill by telling us that the trucks seldom passed that way in the afternoon. We were thirty-five miles away, and our leave expired the following day. He had visions of a forced march, or of a reprimand for getting home a day late, but by means of three different conveyances, and walking a few miles we reached Amiens by supper time. We were ready for it as we had had no lunch.
The next morning, before taking our train, we looked about the town. By comparison with the places we had just seen it looked very well indeed, yet an enormous amount of damage had been done.
The cathedral, considered one of the finest examples of Gothic architecture, is scarred, and many of the windows broken. If any one is inclined to be overly lenient as to the indemnity Germany should pay, I would recommend that he visit the battle fields.
We got home very tired, very enthusiastic about our varied experiences, and dead broke.
We continue to be moderately busy. There are about 1,500

Children's Colds --- Danger!!

TO MOTHERS! Whenever you do for your child's cold, feverish head or sore throat, remember to always rid the bilious liver, sour stomach and constipated bowels of the congested waste and toxin poisons. Always give Cascarets candy cathartic first thing. Even cross, sick, cold-clogged kiddies needn't be coaxed to take candy Cascarets. Cascarets never disappoint the worried mother. Each 10 cent box of Cascarets contains directions and dose for child even aged one year old and upwards.

Oh, little town in Arkansas and little town in Maine,
And little sheltered valley town
and hamlet on the plain, Salem, Jackson, Waukesha, and Brookville, and Peru,
San Mateo, and Irontown, and Lake, and Waterloo, Little town we smiled upon and loved for simple ways,
Quiet streets and garden beds
and friendly sunlit days,
Out of you the soldiers came,
Little town of homely name,
Young and strong and brave with laughter.
They saw the truth and followed after.
Little town, the birth of them!
Makes you kin to Bethlehem!
Little town where Jimmy Brown ran the grocery store,
Little town where Manuel fished
along the shore,
Where Russian Steve was carpenter, and sandy Pat Mc-Quade Worked all day in overalls at his mechanic's trade,
Where Allen Perkins practiced law, and John, Judge Harper's son,
Planned a little house for two that never shall be done—
Little town, you gave them all,
Rich and poor and great and strong,
Sent them forth to right the wrong.
Little town, their glorious death
Makes you kin to Nazareth!

it so popular to some devotees of

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES
The first public recital in expression was a most successful inspiring but showed sincere work. The young women won

Mrs. Joseph R. Harker gave an at home Thursday afternoon in the Phi Nu Hall in honor of Miss Cowgill, who retires from the faculty at the end of this semester, and Miss Rolfe, formerly in charge of the department of Geology.
President Harker left Monday, January 20th, for Chicago, for the purpose of attending the conference of the Centenary Movement.
Mrs. Thomsen Nicholson, wife of the present bishop of Chicago Area, will be in charge of the services during the week of prayer. Vice President Nyman will deliver the sermon on the day of prayer.
Mrs. Nicholson has had a life long interest in students and college activities. For a number of years, Mrs. Nicholson was professor of Latin at Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, where she was recognized as one of the vital forces in all religious endeavor.
Since coming to Chicago, she has been in great demand on public occasions where she has acquitted herself in a most favorable way.
At a recent meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church in Cleveland, she was elected second vice president of that important organization and placed in charge of the foreign work.
Mrs. Nicholson has long been interested in the development of Illinois Women's College and comes to us this year with a desire to be helpful to the young women in reaching a decision concerning the claims of Christ upon their life and time. The college feels itself fortunate in securing the services of one who is in such great demand and who possesses such unusual powers for good. Friends of the college are asked to pray for a season of spiritual quickening as a result of the contemplated services.

LET'S SEE CHAPLIN TONIGHT
It may be Charley at the movies, a concert or a dance city pleasures are now within easy reach of the farmer and his family. The dreary miles of former days have been clipped short by the

The staunch rugged road mastery of this motorcycle

If any car, at any price, occupies a stronger position than the Oakland "Sensible Six", I do not know what it is; and it is necessary to pick cars priced at from $200 to $300 more than the Oakland, to find its equal—Some four cylinder cars cost even more than the Oakland.

Mrs. H. A. Seymour of Hillsboro, Illinois, and her small nieces Blanche and Jeannette McLean, spent the week-end and January 19th and 20th at the college. Miss Bliss Seymour discovered that her popularity was greatly enhanced during the visit because of her beautiful cousins.
Mrs. Emma Lindley of Pecatonica, Ill., is visiting her daughter, Miss Nell Lindley, at the college.
Sunday afternoon, January 19th, fifteen of the young women visited the Old People's Home where they found a delightful group of young women who had grown old but whose interest in life was very strong. They report a most delightful visit and specially enjoyed the singing by several of the family. The following program was rendered:
"Smiles" "There's a Long Long Trail" and other popular songs.
Solo by Margaret Scrimger:
"Because," encore, "A Perfect Day."
Singing of Hymns selected by the girls.

The usual method of sealing a storage battery of this type is to pour over the entire top of it a bulky layer of sealing compound. This compound requires so much space that, without its use, the battery plates could be made considerably larger.
This is just what has been accomplished in designing and building the Cincinnati Storage Battery. The use of bulky sealing compound has been done away with entirely and the single sealing arrangement shown in the sectional illustration above is used. This has made possible the increasing of the size of the battery plates with a consequent increase in the power of the battery. The larger size battery plates used in the manufacture of this battery mean a higher average voltage under all rates of discharge and a "snapper" action of your starter.
